

Green Business Centre

Environmental Awareness in the Workplace (1 day)

Course overview

The Environmental Awareness course is for individuals with an interest in improving their organisation's environmental management, or to develop their understanding of environmental impacts.

This entry level course should help you understand the basics in the understanding of environmental sustainability and is designed to help enable you identify the environmental issues in your workplace.

This is an interactive course which includes presentations, practical workshops. The content is written and delivered by the Green Business Centre.

Course content

- Environmental issues
- Identifying environmental issues at your workplace (Aspects and impacts)
- Minimising your impact by managing risk
- Environmental legislation
- Environmental management systems

This course can be tailored to address specific training needs and the standard used in your organisation.

Courses are delivered at your own site at a reduced price. If you prefer to take your training off-site, we can help you arrange a training venue in a suitable location.

Who should attend?

- Individuals with little or no experience in the environment sector, including those wishing to start their environmental career.
- Individuals who are supporting those who are responsible for the development, maintenance and implementation of their organisation's EMS (ISO14001, Green Dragon, BS8555).
- Quality and Health and Safety Auditors who want to improve their professional competence on environmental issues in the workplace.

Outcome and Qualification

On completion of the course delegates will be will receive a Green Business Centre Certificate.

There is no examination for this course.

The benefits of bespoke courses include:

- Flexible, tailored training.
- Content designed to address specific needs against your current management system.
- Scenarios relating to real life experiences of your organisation.
- Training courses at a time & location to suit your business.
- Save on travel and overnight accommodation expenses.
- Training delivery at one inclusive cost.

To discuss your specific requirements

Email training@greenbusinesscentre.org.uk

Call 01792 846000